The Secretariat of the Schools of Political Studies warmly welcomes the over 500 participants from the twenty-one Schools who are here in Strasbourg for the Fifth World Forum for Democracy.

- The Forum intends to be a place where you – young democratic leaders – are exposed to cutting-edge ideas and first-rate discussion on issues relating to democracy. This year’s forum will focus on the relationship between education and democracy, examining whether they can reinforce each other and together address the risks of new social divides.
- The Forum is a place to exchange your experiences and to address your questions on the topics under review. We encourage you to share your knowledge, using this event as an opportunity for mutual learning.
- In addition to the main Forum programme, a series of meetings and events has been designed specifically for the Schools. This brochure provides information on the following elements:
 - ▶ Networking lunches by profession;
 - ▶ Meetings between participants from different Schools;
 - ▶ Visits to the European Court of Human Rights;
 - ▶ The Diploma ceremony and the “family photograph”;
 - ▶ Side Event in the City: Debate by the Association of Schools of Political Studies (ASPS)
- You will also find an insert with a list of the Schools’ participants at the Forum and a short evaluation questionnaire for you to complete.
- The Schools’ Secretariat looks forward to meeting you and hopes you will take full advantage of all these events as well as the Forum itself. Enjoy, network, and help build a brighter future!

Networking Lunches

Monday 7 and Tuesday 8 November from 12.30 to 13.45
Restaurant of the European Parliament

The idea behind the Networking Lunch is to create an informal environment in which you can meet other young professionals from other Schools with similar interests and ambitions. You will have the chance to share experiences of democracy in your own country as well as to exchange opinions on the topic of this year's forum. Tables in the European Parliament cafeteria will be organised by language and by field of activity:

Media – Business – Civil Society (including NGOs and academia) – Politics and Public Sector

You are free to join whichever table you feel best corresponds to your profession and your language preferences (English, French or Russian). On Tuesday you'll have the chance to catch those you didn't meet on Monday and share more experiences of the Forum. Don't forget to bring your business cards!

SPS Diploma Ceremony and Family Photograph

Wednesday 9 November from 14.15 to 15.45
Palais de l'Europe

The diploma ceremony will take place in the Hemicycle, Palais de l'Europe, in the presence of Thorbjørn Jagland, Secretary General of the Council of Europe.

The group photograph will be taken on the steps in front of the Palais de l'Europe (or in the hemicycle in case of bad weather).

Democracy and Populism

Tuesday 8 November 2016 at 19.30

ERAGE (4 rue Brûlée, 67000 Strasbourg)

Public meeting chaired by former French Minister, Catherine Lalumière, President of the Association of Schools of Political Studies of the Council of Europe.

Speakers:

- David Buchan (United Kingdom) former director of office at Financial Times in Paris and Brussels
- Andrzej Krajewski (Poland) journalist et broadcasting regulator (KRRiT)
- Alberto Toscano (Italy) journalist and academic

Fuelled by simplistic lies, misrepresentation and rabble-rousing rhetoric based on the myth of giving power back to the people, populism is increasingly colouring public debate and threatening democracy in Europe and beyond.

From Trump to Putin and from Brexit to Beppe Grillo, what exactly do we mean by “populism”? What of stigmatisation of refugees, negative stereotyping of migrants and trivialisation of racism and xenophobia? Is populism an inevitable consequence of pluralism or just a temporary disease affecting democracy? What can be done to counter populist discourse and disinformation?

The debate will be interpreted into English, French and Russian.
