« ETHICS AND POLITICS »
27 – 29 June 2011, Palais de l'Europe

Following the success of the first five sessions of the Summer University for Democracy organised by the Council of Europe for its Network of Schools of Political Studies, this event has become a major meeting point for young leaders from the public sector of the "new Europe" to debate, exchange views and attempt to address the concerns of our time.

Each year, with the support of the local authorities of Alsace and Strasbourg, the Summer University for Democracy attracts an increasing number of participants of the Network of Schools of Political Studies, political personalities and international experts.

The 2011 Summer University will, for the third time, welcome participants from Africa through co-operation between the Organisation Internationale de la Francophonie (OIF) and the Council of Europe. Moreover, for the second year running, American experts will take part in the debates of the Summer University, thanks to the partnership established with the International Center on Non-violent conflict (Washington D.C.). Moreover, a Tunisian delegation has been invited to share the experiences of the Jasmine revolution and the hopes which have arisen from the Arab revolutions, which illustrates the growing interest in the Network of Schools of Political Studies beyond Europe.

Ethics which is often neglected by politics, the media and the business world, will be at the heart of the debates of this Sixth Summer University for Democracy. How to reconcile citizens with politics, to restore their confidence in their leaders, to combat voter abstention, which often punishes the lack of ethics? In what circumstances can education be an antidote against the deficit of ethics in politics? How to preserve ethical values against the constant search for financial gain, greed, corruption and trafficking of various kinds? How to compensate the lack of ethics in the media and make more impervious their relationships with the political power?

These topics will form the main subjects of the conferences and round tables of the Summer University for Democracy, which will be presented by experts and personalities from across Europe, Africa, Asia and North America.

A unique occasion to meet and exchange views in order to facilitate mutual understanding and dialogue, the Summer University for Democracy reserves an important part of its programme for regional and bilateral meetings between the 16 Schools which constitute the Network.

The Council of Europe would like to thank all of the experts and personalities who contributed to this Sixth Summer University for Democracy, which is the forerunner to the Strasbourg World Forum for Democracy.

« ETHIQUE ET POLITIQUE »
27 – 29 juin 2011, Palais de l'Europe

Après le succès des cinq premières éditions, l'Université d'été de la démocratie, organisée par le Conseil de l'Europe pour son réseau d'écoles d'études politiques, est désormais le rendez-vous majeur des jeunes responsables des secteurs publics de la « nouvelle Europe » pour débattre, échanger et tenter de répondre aux interrogations de notre temps.

L'Université d'été de la démocratie, qui bénéficie du soutien des autorités locales alsaciennes et strasbourgeoises, attire chaque année davantage de participants du réseau des écoles d'études politiques, personnalités politiques et experts internationaux.

L'édition 2011 de l'Université d'été de la démocratie accueillera pour la troisième fois des participants d'Afrique dans le cadre de la coopération entre l'Organisation Internationale de la Francophonie (OIF) et le Conseil de l'Europe. Par ailleurs, pour la deuxième année consécutive, des experts américains prendront part aux débats de l'Université d'été, grâce au partenariat établi avec le Centre International sur le Conflit Non-violent (Washington D.C.). De plus, une délégation tunisienne a été invitée pour partager les expériences de la révolution du Jasmin et les espérances nées des révolutions arabes, témoignant de l'intérêt croissant que suscite le réseau des écoles d'études politiques au-delà de l'Europe.

L'éthique, trop souvent négligée par le politique, les médias et le monde des entreprises, sera au centre des travaux de cette sixième Université d'été de la démocratie. Comment réconcilier les citoyens avec la politique, restaurer leur confiance à l'égard des dirigeants, combattre l'abstentionnisme électoral qui sanctionne bien souvent le manque d'éthique ? Dans quelles conditions l'éducation peut-elle être un antidote contre le déficit éthique dans la sphère politique ? Comment préserver les valeurs éthiques face à la recherche constante du bénéfice financier, la cupidité, la corruption et les trafics divers ? Comment palier le déficit éthique dans les médias et rendre plus imperméables leurs rapports au pouvoir politique ?

Tels sont les principaux sujets à l'ordre du jour des conférences et tables rondes de l'Université d'été de la démocratie, qui seront présentés par des experts et personnalités venus de toute l'Europe, d'Afrique, d'Asie et d'Amérique du Nord.

Moment privilégié de rencontre et d'échange propre à faciliter la compréhension mutuelle et le dialogue, l'Université d'été de la démocratie réserve une partie importante de son programme à des rencontres bilatérales et régionales entre les 16 écoles membres du réseau.

Le Conseil de l'Europe remercie tous les experts et toutes les personnalités qui ont contribué à cette sixième Université d'été de la démocratie, qui préfigure le futur Forum mondial de la démocratie de Strasbourg.

A World Forum for Democracy as from 2012

Following the Summer Universities for Democracy and the resonance it found everywhere in Europe and far beyond, the project of organising a worldwide event gathering prominent political leaders to discuss and suggest new considerations on the challenges of democracy in the 21st century was born.

Democracy takes on various forms from one continent to another, which far from opposing, should on the contrary allow for a better adaptation of political systems to the realities in constant evolution in our societies. New technologies, climatic and environmental challenges, terrorism, organised crime and demographic evolution question our means of governing based on representative systems.

A global public opinion emerges and calls for new forms of power exercise, more united and closer to the citizen's concerns. Power relations evolve towards models of participation and sharing of power which interpellate leaders.

This Strasbourg World Forum for Democracy will not only include the annual participants of the schools of political studies, but also national and European members of parliament, state officials, local representatives, civil servants and academics during one week in Strasbourg for a series of events and working sessions bringing together actors in public life from all continents. The objective will be to share experiences and good practices in the field of democratic governance as well as to suggest new initiatives aimed at strengthening the democratisation process everywhere in the world and to consolidate democracies, even the oldest ones, towards the challenges they are faced with.

Participation of the worldwide civil society, the medias and socio-economic leaders to the work in the Strasbourg World Forum for Democracy will open the dialogue at the global level on the defence and promotion of the universal values of peace, democracy, human rights and the rule of law.

The Strasbourg World Forum for Democracy will be made up of various events, such as a hub of democratic excellence gathering prominent experts to sustain the debates of the Forum with conferences and thematic workshops, "democracy in the 21st century" workshops bringing together actors of public life by professional categories as well as "consumer" events (youth parliament, fair of NGOs, cinema festivals, literature prize...).

Un Forum mondial de la démocratie dès 2012

Sur le modèle des Universités d'été de la démocratie et de l'écho qu'elles rencontrent partout en Europe et au-delà, est né le projet d'organiser un événement à l'échelle mondiale réunissant des décideurs politiques de premier rang pour débattre et proposer des pistes nouvelles de réflexion sur les enjeux de la démocratie au XXI^e siècle.

La démocratie revêt des formes multiples d'un continent à l'autre, qui loin de s'opposer, doivent au contraire permettre une meilleure adaptation des systèmes politiques aux réalités en évolution constante de nos sociétés. Les nouvelles technologies, les défis climatiques et environnementaux, le terrorisme, le crime organisé et l'évolution démographique, remettent en question nos modes de gouvernance fondés sur des systèmes représentatifs.

Une opinion publique mondiale émerge qui revendique de nouvelles formes d'exercice du pouvoir, plus solidaire et plus proche des préoccupations du citoyen. Les relations de pouvoir évoluent vers des modèles de participation et de partage du pouvoir qui interpellent les dirigeants.

Le Forum mondial de la démocratie de Strasbourg associera, outre les participants annuels des écoles d'études politiques, des parlementaires nationaux et européens, des responsables gouvernementaux, élus locaux, fonctionnaires, universitaires durant une semaine à Strasbourg pour une série d'événements et de réunions de travail associant des acteurs de la vie publique de tous les continents. L'objectif sera autant d'échanger des expériences et bonnes pratiques en matière de gouvernance démocratique, que de proposer des initiatives nouvelles visant à renforcer partout dans le monde les processus de démocratisation et de consolider les démocraties, même les plus anciennes, face aux défis auxquels elles sont confrontées.

La participation aux travaux du Forum mondial de la démocratie de Strasbourg de la société civile mondiale, des médias et de responsables socio-économiques ouvrira les voies d'un dialogue à l'échelle mondiale sur la défense et la promotion des valeurs universelles de paix, de démocratie, de droits de l'Homme et de prééminence du droit.

Le Forum mondial de la démocratie de Strasbourg se composera de manifestations diverses, telles qu'un pôle d'excellence démocratique, réunissant des experts de haut niveau chargés d'alimenter les débats du Forum, des conférences et ateliers thématiques, des carrefours « démocratie au XXI^e siècle » regroupant par catégories professionnelles les acteurs de la vie publique, ainsi que des événements « grand public » (parlement des jeunes, foire des ONG, festival de cinéma, prix littéraire...).

International Center on Nonviolent Conflict

The International Center on Nonviolent Conflict (ICNC) is an independent educational foundation that develops and promotes the study and use of civilian-based, non-military strategies by groups and campaigns aiming to establish or defend human rights, democratic self-rule and justice worldwide.

The Center's Activities

Acting as a catalyst to stimulate the choice of nonviolent conflict, the Center collaborates with likeminded institutions, nongovernmental organisations and selected agencies to:

Educate Activists

In response to requests, the Center provides support for workshops in nonviolent conflict attended by activists and citizens who are considering civilian-based, nonviolent action as a way to seek democracy or human rights. Such workshops impart conceptual knowledge and help develop skills in applying nonviolent strategies devised by such activists.

Educate the Global Public

The Center uses television broadcast networks, the Internet, and off-air and offline media to disseminate video programming, books and video games, as well as learning materials for schools and universities. All these resources help promote the history and ideas of nonviolent conflict in open or closed societies where rights or self-rule are at issue.

Inform Policymakers and the Media

The Center conducts meetings and briefings, co-sponsors conferences, and makes available articles and academic studies, to encourage decision makers to facilitate rather than hinder opportunities for civilian-based, nonviolent movements. These same tools are used to assist senior media producers and reporters to expand and improve coverage of nonviolent struggles.

Centre international sur le conflit non violent

Le Centre International sur le Conflit Non-violent (ICNC) est une fondation éducative indépendante, qui développe et promeut l'étude et la mise en œuvre de stratégies civiles non-violentes, pour établir ou défendre les droits de l'Homme, la démocratie et la justice à travers le monde.

Les activités du Centre

Favorisant le choix de solutions non-violents aux conflits, le Centre collabore avec des institutions, des organisations non-gouvernementales, et des agences partageant les mêmes objectifs pour :

former des activistes

Selon les demandes, le Centre fournit son assistance pour des ateliers sur les conflits non-violents, auxquels participent des activistes et des citoyens partisans de l'action non-violente comme outil de développement de la démocratie et des droits de l'Homme. Ces ateliers informent les participants sur les aspects conceptuels et les moyens de développer leurs capacités de mise en œuvre des stratégies qu'ils ont élaborées.

éduquer le grand public

Le Centre diffuse ses supports (vidéos, livres et jeux vidéo), ainsi que du matériel pédagogique pour les écoles et les universités sur les réseaux télévisés, l'Internet et les médias indépendants. Toutes ces ressources permettent de promouvoir l'histoire et les fondements des conflits non-violents au sein de sociétés ouvertes ou fermées confrontées au respect du droit.

informer les politiques et les médias

Le Centre organise des réunions et des présentations, co-finance des conférences, diffuse des articles et des études universitaires, afin d'encourager les décideurs à favoriser, plutôt que d'entraver, les actions civiles et les mouvements non-violents. Ces mêmes outils sont utilisés pour inciter les journalistes et les producteurs à étendre et améliorer la couverture médiatique des luttes non-violentes.
